"Our House on the Hills" Described-Its Beauties and Comforts for All who Accept the Divine Invitation to Make It Their Abode.

The following sermon on "Our House on the Hills" was delivered by Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage at "The Hamptons," N. Y. The text was: In my Father's house are many rooms. - John

There are arrivals atthe old homestead of God's children every day, and the day will come when there will be no unoccupied room in all

As you and I expect to enter it and make there eternal residence, I thought you would like to get some more particuare about that many-roomed homestead. "In my Father's house are many rooms." You see the place is to be apportioned off into apartments. We shall love all who are in Heaven, but there are some very good people whom we would not want to live with in the same room. They may be vergent temperament. We would like to meet with them on the golden streets, and better than we are, but they are of a diworship with them in the temple, and walk with them on the river banks, but I am glad to say that we shall live in different apartments. "In my Father's house are many rooms." You see, Heaven will be so large that, if one wants an entire room to himself or herself it can be afforded. An ingenious statistician, taking the statement made in Revelation, twenty-first chapter, that the Heavenly Jerusalem was measured and found to be twelve thousand furlongs, and that the length and breadth and height of it are equal, says that would make Heaven in size nine hundred and forty-eight sextillion nine hundred and eighty-eight quintillion cubic feet, and then reserving a certain portion for the court of Heaven | Oh, that throne room of Christ! STATE OF TRADE. Bradstreet's Weekly Review of the Trade New York, July 13.—Bradstreet's "State of Trade" says: Special telegrams indicate that the volume of trade throughout the country, while a little more active in special localities, does not on the whole show much increase in volume. The outlook for the autumn business is generally considered excellent and good crop prospects have already had an influence on the country demand. Lumber proves an exception in that it is weaker at Western centers. A satisfactory increase in trade, accompanying increased firmness in prices, is reported in the dry goods (commission), building material, furniture and carpet trades in this city. Breadstuffs have been irregular, starting with a quick advance early in the week on damage to the spring wheat crop and higher cables, and declining on better weather reports, heavier receips of new winter, slackening export request and free speculative sales. Raw sugars have declined at New York 1-16 to %c on cable advices of a heavy speculative decline at London. Holders are conservative. Expert opinion in-clines to the belief that our men in Boone County, Ark., who had at- refiners will naturally take advantage of the reaction abroad to buy sugar and the reaction will be short lived. Speculation in coffee has been more confident and an advance of fully I cent per pound is a result. Advices from San Francisco state that an attempt is being made to bull the salmon market on estimates of only-half the expected pack in Alaska. Steel rail mills are more fully supplied with orders than for thirty days at $27.50 at the East for large lots. Structural iron is in urgent demand and prices are stronger. Fall wear cotton and light weight clothing woolens are more active and prices are firm. Raw wool is strong at the interior and in fair sale at the seabourd on free

An Exciting Scene Over the Tearing Down of a Building-A Mob Rebuilds It. GUTHRIE, Ok., July 13.-A number of city marshals and a dozen workmen yesterday afternoon began to tear down a restaurant which was on one of the most valuable lots in the city and owned by Peter H. Haines, an old man.

As the work of demolition proceeded a large crowd gathered and those who sympathized with the old couple were many. The actions of Ha nes and his wife meanwhile were such as to arouse this feeling of sympathy to action and a number of speeches were made against the marshals. The latter, however, kept the crowd at bay but in doing this they had some unpleasant experiences. While they were busy with the crowd Mrs. Haines between her sobs managed to throw a pan of hot water on one of them while the husband grappled with another.

At this crisis a number of United States marshals arrived and placed Acklin, one of the city marshals, and several of the workmen under arrest, charged with conspiracy and intimidation. They gave bend before United States Commissioner Elliston to answer to the charge next Monday.

After doing this the city marshal once more proceeded to the lot and in the face of an unfriendly crowd fluished the tearing down of the restaurant, Haines and his wife retreated to a tent on the rear of the lot which, owing to increased turbulence in the crowd, was not removed.

After the city marshal had finished the work of tearing down the restaurant and had disappeared, the crowd with many cheers proceeded to put the building un again. The street was soon blockaded with several thousand people, and about a hundred willing hands with hammers and nails soon had the structure restored,

Wiley Matthews Again. Ozank, Mo , July 13 - The most sansational report received here since Wiley Matthews, the condemned Bald Knobber who should have been hanged when the Walkers and John Matthews were executed here, made his escape, was one received from Arkansas that the outlaw had killed two men who had attempted to capture him. It was stated that the killing was done about thirty miles south of Kirbyville, in Boone County, Ark., and color is given to the report by the fact that it is positively known here that Matthews had been seen a short time before in Arkansas near where he is said to have committed his latest crime. No details of the killing can be had at present,
